Salutations,

The accompanying letter has been sent to various civic groups that we could think of (churches, community theater, the music school & friends). It would be difficult to facilitate an entire band but our schools are equally able to contribute to the makeup of talent here in our fine county.

I would like to extend to you an invitation to participate in this event. My thinking was that your school might have a theatrical production coming up, or just finished, which had a short scene or a song that could easily be done on its own. It could stand as a ‘teaser’ to get the audience to come see the full production. Another possibility is if you have a choral or choir group at your school. There are always blossoming performers looking for the opportunity to ‘shine.’ We simply need to open that door to them sometimes.

Please, let us know if you have something you think might be a nice snapshot of your school. Perhaps, even the director might consider doing something; that can be the inspiration the cast sometimes needs. ☺

Sincerely,

David Olson
